

“DISTINCTION”

BY

PAUL LAURENCE DUNBAR

“I am but clay,” the sinner plead,
Who fed each vain desire.
“Not only clay,” another said,
“But worse, for thou art mire.”