

Chapter XXXVIII

Jane Eyre

Does the ending match the character of Jane that the reader has come to know? How does her life as it is described match the future that you would have predicted for her? Would Jane have made the same choices and had the same life if these events took place in today's society? Why or why not?