

Questionnaires/Surveys

- Probably the most commonly used means of gathering evaluation data
- Often measures personal opinions, attitudes or aspirations
- Can be used to some limited degree to measure behaviors
- This approach can be economical in terms of time
- Data are usually easy to analyze
- It can have the advantage of being done on line to save resources for printing and mailing