

After the Hurricane

By

George E. Merrick

Gray-purple dusk behind the wrath-swept hill:—
An out-limned broken oak; black,—lone:—once tall.
Drear tragic figure,—bowed by awful Will—
Transfixed against the fading fateful pall.

