

Chapter XI: "The Arched Window"
The House of the Seven Gables

What are the similarities between the organ grinders that he loves to watch and Clifford himself?

What is the function of the window? How does it represent the whole of Clifford's existence?