Ch. 18: An Unpleasant Surprise

Whitefoot the Wood Mouse

Directions: Once upon a time the first people had to worry. Once upon a time, they had to be afraid about predators in their food chain. They worried about many of the same things that Whitefoot has to worry about. For example, they had to worry about food and shelter. Pretend to be a little mouse, or pretend to be a cave man. Journal what you think it would be like to worry all the time about your next meal and finding a safe home.
