"The Wind and the Sun"

Directions: Aesop gives "Kindness effects more than severity" as the moral of this story. "You can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar" is a proverb. Proverbs exist in most societies and are one-sentence truths to inspire or teach much like story morals. Explain what this moral or proverb means to you. Give an example of a time this moral or proverb worked for you, or make up a story that gives an example.
